

Business Savings Exemptions List

We have restrictions on the business types and industries we accept deposits from. Please see below a list of industries and activities which we will not accept applications from:

- A business trading with High Risk Third countries, as published by the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) (detailed here)
- If you are sanctioned, or have any relationship with a sanctioned person or entity
- Financial Institutions and money service businesses, including shell or unlicensed banks
- A business operating on passive income (income that is not from the sale of goods and services)
- The provision of military weapons
- The production, development or export of chemicals or technologies used to develop military weapons
- Entities that have either issued bearer shares, or entities with bearer shares within the ownership structure
- Online gambling or casinos
- Art dealing
- Crypto asset dealing
- Are known or suspected of money laundering, tax evasion, fraud or any other criminal activity.

If your business partakes in any of these industries or activities, we will be unable to accept your application for a business savings account. We can refuse to open an account for you without providing a reason.
